Strategic operator with 9 years across risk management, product, go-to-market, and cross-functional execution. One of four people running a nine-figure revenue product line serving hundreds of thousands of members across 14 markets. Rebuilt its pricing and GTM strategy and grew it 73% YoY. Built the competitive intelligence model that set the enterprise roadmap.

EXPERIENCE

Senior Business Change Manager

Nov 2025 – Present

Elevance Health, Denver, CO

- As a 4-person team, achieved 73% YoY product membership growth by rebuilding the go-to-market strategy, transforming pricing methodologies, building tools across departments, process improvements, and sales enablement across 14+ markets.
- Built the organization's competitive intelligence model, benchmarking pricing, offerings, and GTM against national competitors, and presented it to leadership. This became the strategy document that drove changes across all departments.
- Blocked a proposed expansion into a new state market by presenting a data-backed analysis including provider-cost structures, chronic-illness prevalence, claims volatility data and physician density - preventing a margin loss leadership had not priced in.
- Built and deployed a custom AI assistant grounded in pricing and product documentation, giving hundreds of employees instant, accurate answers to complex product questions.
- Automated the data gathering and file preparation behind account renewals with a ChatGPT and Power Automate workflow, adopted company-wide and saving analysts hundreds of hours annually.

Business Change Manager

Sept 2022 – Nov 2025

Elevance Health, Denver, CO

- Led post-sale process modernization across 28+ markets, implementing DocuSign within Salesforce and coordinating Legal, Compliance, Forms, Sales Support, and IT to redesign the contracting workflow. Cut approximately one hour of work per sold case and reduced a 22-page document packet by proving Legal had misread the regulatory requirement.
- Secured six-figure funding for a modernization project on a team with no budget, building the business case and pitching a senior leader outside my reporting line, then cut the project's cost by standardizing documents across states beforehand.
- Aligned 42 teams onto a single enterprise discounting model, replacing 14 state-specific versions with one. Eliminated an annual per-state update cycle and simplified the experience for national partners.
- Acted as a product SME for 400+ internal partners by managing a centralized support mailbox, equipping dozens of teams for client conversations while turning questions into targeted training topics, enablement resources, or product refinements.
- Served as a primary end user guiding engineers through development of a new enterprise rating platform, translating pricing logic into technical requirements; the tool is now used daily by ~100 analysts.
- Ran an attrition analysis across 100 terminated accounts — cleaning and reclassifying the underlying data, then presenting findings to leadership, who built training and communication action plans from the recommendations.
- Responded to market feedback on contract inflexibility by convening a workgroup and delivering pricing and process for non-standard contract terms within four months.

Lead Risk and Underwriting Analyst

Nov 2019 – Sept 2022

Elevance Health, Denver, CO

- Grew a $15M+ portfolio to more than double in size over 2.5 years – setting pricing on new and renewal business, choosing which groups to pursue or retain, and negotiating renewals and strategizing with external partners, while exceeding profitability targets.
- Independently identified a systematic flaw in a third-party predictive risk model that was under-scoring members on high-cost pharmacy claims. Investigated dozens of affected cases, documented the financial exposure, and escalated a formal analysis to the vendor — resulting in a confirmed patch. No one else had flagged it.
- Built a partner tracking and evaluation framework that was adopted organically across the company and embedded into enterprise renewal workflows, driving proactive account strategy and high retention.
- Launched two new offerings to market based on original market analysis, and drove sales enablement across the market as the resident product expert.

Risk & Underwriting Analyst

Jan 2017 – Nov 2019

Cigna Healthcare, Denver, CO

- Managed a multi-million-dollar book in one of the country's most competitive markets, balancing profitability and retention through analytics-driven pricing and risk segmentation; negotiated with 20+ business partners to hit growth targets while containing financial risk.
